

WORLD BEE DAY COMES TO LONDON

organised in cooperation with the Conway Hall and Bee Midtown

Tuesday 21 May 2019 from 6:30 – 8:30 pm

CONWAY HALL
25 Red Lion Square
London WC1R 4RL

Admission is free, but tickets must be booked in advance at tinyurl.com/y6ycrna2

Slovakia along thirty hives from around the world will present on its stand distinctive bee products including honey, pollen, propolis, royal jelly and wax, as well as honey-based products including biscuits, mead, spirits, candles and more. The visitors will get a chance to sample many of these.

The aim of World Bee Day designated by the United Nations is to raise awareness of the importance of bees and other pollinators for their contribution to sustainable development, food security and biodiversity.

Safeguarding bees safeguards biodiversity. The vast majority of pollinators are wild, including over 20,000 species of bees. Bees pollinate as many as 170,000 species of plant, and every third spoonful of food is dependent on pollination.
